

Eventkickoff Guidelines

Our guidelines ensure respectful conduct in our community and the high quality of information provided.

Eventkickoff reserves the right to take any action necessary to make sure our platform remains a welcoming space for all members. This includes the right to edit or delete any threads or posts that are inappropriate or violate any of the guidelines below. Members who don't follow our Eventkickoff Guidelines may have their accounts temporarily or permanently deactivated.

As a member of Eventkickoff, you have agreed to adhere to our General Terms & Conditions and to respect our Guidelines.

Activities

- Eventkickoff provides the infrastructure for our members to organize activities. The organizers do not represent Eventkickoff.
- Eventkickoff assumes no liability for what occurs at an activity posted on Eventkickoff.com. Eventkickoff does not accept any legal responsibility for damages resulting from the gross negligence of the organizers. Furthermore, neither Eventkickoff nor the organizer(s) of an activity shall assume liability for any loss of personal property, nor shall they be held responsible in the event of financial, physical, or emotional damage (see our General Terms & Conditions for further details).
- Attendance costs (if applicable) may not serve the financial interest of the activity organizers with the exception of organizers of professional business workshops on this forum.
- We do not allow in-person activities that:
 - serve a commercial purpose — we do not tolerate aggressive self-promotion;
 - are linked to the host's or a relative of the host's business, with the exception of organizers of professional business workshops on this forum;
 - are linked to an organization that the host promotes and/or works for, with the exception of organizers of professional business workshops on this forum;
 - are organized or featured on another website or social network — you can - share the activity link to your social networks, though;
 - could be considered discriminatory or intolerant;
 - are inappropriate or sexual in nature;
 - are otherwise considered unsuitable for the community.

Communication

- Use Eventkickoff for its intended purpose. We're not a database for promoting your business, recruiting, or finding a date.
- Do not spam:
 - Don't send identical messages to multiple recipients.
 - Don't send a personalized message when connecting with someone new.
- Use real profiles, with real names and real pictures:
 - Eventkickoff does not allow fake or duplicate accounts
 - Don't use someone else's information or profile picture.
 - Don't intentionally mislead others with fake information.
- Give your activity post a clear and concise title.
- Don't include "Eventkickoff" in the activity title.
- Don't disclose the activity's location or venue in the title or cover photo.
- We don't allow the use of any copyrighted or trademarked content in your activity posts. This includes the title, description, and images.
 - Cover photos from third-party sources are only allowed if you hold the copyright or have permission to use them (for example, from the venue owner).
 - Information or content from third-party sources is only allowed if you hold the copyright or have permission to use it. Always provide a link to the content or original source of information with an explanatory comment (see our General Terms & Conditions for further details).
- Respect others! Everyone is entitled to express their opinion — just do it in a respectful way.
- Don't use excessive punctuation (!!??!!!) or CAPITAL letters. This may be viewed as shouting.
- Don't use discriminatory, offensive, or inappropriate language.
- Don't post the same activity in more than one group.
- These have no place in the forum:
 - Hate speech or intolerant remarks
 - Derisive or insulting posts about other members, their comments, profile, threads, or experiences
 - Pornographic or sexual comments
 - Inappropriate language
 - Posts from recruiters or recruitment agencies

- Commercial posts and advertisements other than those of professional business workshops on this forum
- Posts promoting external events and/or other social networks
- Duplicate posts

When Attending Activities

- If you accept an activity invitation and later cannot attend, you should cancel your attendance on the Eventkickoff website before the activity begins. Knowing the correct number of participants makes it easier for the organizer to plan the activity and make any necessary reservations.
- Depending on the activity, there may be costs involved (e.g. ticket fees, travel expenses). Attendance costs (if applicable) may not serve the financial interest of the activity organizers other than the organizers of workshops.
- In the spirit of meeting new people, we ask you to help other members feel welcome at Eventkickoff Activities.
- Any member behaving in an inappropriate manner at an activity — be it in person or online — is subject to having their Eventkickoff membership revoked.
- By accepting an activity invitation, you acknowledge Eventkickoff's right to publish any photographs, screenshots, or film footage taken at the activity on the Eventkickoff website, app, and/or on any platform approved by Eventkickoff. If you wish to refuse, you must clearly express this wish to the photographer or videographer at the activity. If you would like us to remove a photograph already published on the Eventkickoff website, contact Eventkickoff support@Eventkickoff.com

Safety Tips

- You have complete control over who can contact you. You can change your privacy settings to reflect your preferences.
- Avoid sharing personal information with members you've only recently met or have never met before — unless you feel you can trust them and are comfortable doing so.
- We encourage you to only use Eventkickoff to exchange messages with fellow members.
- Eventkickoff membership is by approval only. However, some members might have other intentions than those stated on their application. Please be wary of claims that seem too good to be true — they usually are. Such behavior is rare at Eventkickoff, but it is important to be aware of it.
- To help us easily separate genuine profiles from those with other intentions, please make sure your personal details are accurate when creating your account.

- We recommend personally reviewing another member's profile and thinking carefully about the content and intention of their message before responding.
- Never offer financial assistance to or share your financial information with someone you've met online.
- We encourage you to meet other members on activities in a public environment.
- When meeting another member in person, you do so at your own risk. Get to know the other person online first, trust your instincts, and use common sense.
- As a community, we believe it is everyone's responsibility to look out for one another and work together to prevent and uncover any form of misconduct or unacceptable behavior. If you have concerns or come across anything suspicious, please don't hesitate to get in touch by contacting Eventkickoff at: support@Eventkickoff.com
- You can report messages, contact requests, profiles, etc.